

DO THIS AT HOME
Family Show and Tell

Continue to discuss your child’s family and culture at home to reinforce what your child learned about respecting important people in her life.

---

What Your Child Will Learn

In this activity, your child will learn about the people in her life and her culture. This learning sets the stage for an appreciation of other families and cultures.

Materials Needed

art supplies
family songs, games, or traditions (optional)
labeled favorite family recipe (optional)
paper
pictures of family members

---

What to Do

- ▶ At home, mark a date on your calendar when you know family members (near and far) will be together. Events such as weddings, graduations, and family reunions present such opportunities.
- ▶ Gather pictures of family members that your child may or may not know. Label each picture to identify who the person is, for example “great aunt.”
- ▶ If you know of a favorite dish or family recipe, you may want to invite your child to join you in preparing it.
- ▶ You may also include family songs, games, and other important traditions.
- ▶ It may be fun to share a story from a time when an adult in the family was the same age as your child.
- ▶ Before the gathering, you and your child can make a “show and tell” poster/book including all or some of the things mentioned above.
- ▶ At the family gathering, encourage your child to share her project.
